My lips were never meant for this bottle of wine
Baby, I know yours they were meant for mine
My lungs were never meant for cigarettes
And I never looked good dressed up in my Sunday best

My eyes they should have never seen such sights,
Like the ones that I done seen out here tonight
Cause I'm the type that chases crazy dreams
Oh but I'm not the kind that catches much of anything
And I know that I'm on this earth, for one reason today
So don't go, girl for what it's worth, I'm begging you to stay
Cause I was born to love, you can't take that away

My stomach was never meant for butterflies
Girl my ears they should have never heard your lies
Cause I'm not the type that's cut out for romance
I'm more of the type that misses his only chance
And I know that I'm on this earth for one reason today
So don't go, girl for what it's worth, I'm begging you to stay
Cause I was born to love you, you can't take that away

My blood was never meant for alcohol
Girl, I guess I was always meant to fall
Cause I'm not the type that ever misses much
But girl I swear, I can't live without your touch

And I know that I'm on this earth for one reason today
So don't go, girl for what it's worth, I'm begging you to stay
Cause I was born to love you and you can't take that away
