Suddenly I see what someone said existed
Right in front of me,
Don't know how I could have missed it
Guess it took a kick while down to come around
With a little sense and a couple better choices
All the petty bullshit could have been avoided
Suddenly I see it, life is meant to be with you

Past mistakes made a mess of me
Obvious now I see
I made more than plenty
And all these damn mistakes made it clear to me
That you're not just one of many
There's something different about you
I feel so good when I'm around you
One thing more to get used to
There's something different about you

Finally I see what someone said existed
Right in front of me, it's the beauty of persistence
Guess it took a little time to get it right
Looking back at things now,
Everything adds up
Every drunken night, gonna put 'em all behind us
Finally I see it, my life is meant to be with you
