Closed eyes to outside's deception.
Fighting for a way to see, this is not what we envisioned.
Things are never what they seem.

(We will find a way in time)
Will we ever find a way to end this?
(Be)cause I'm afraid that it's all a lie.
We'll keep searching for the life they promised.
Your hand in mine.

Caught in a chain reaction.
If we go, what will we find?
Blinded by all these distractions, how could we make it out alive?

This passion building inside me, our hollow hearts
denied.
We're all left starving for answers.
The only thing that we know is this weight that we hold.

We won't stand, we won't stand down.
While everything that we want is just slipping away.
We won't stand, we won't stand down.
While everything that we have is just slipping away.

And with this road we take will be able to see the best in everything?
It's all we need.
If we believe, we can change anything.

(We will find a way in time)
Will we ever find a way to end this?
(Be)cause I'm afraid that it's all a lie.
We'll keep searching for the life they promised.
Your hand in mine.

No one left can save us, as locusts block the sun.
The earth shatters and tides run red...
... With blood!
