

The Aphorist

"Apparition"

Visit "Apparition" on MotoLyrics.com

Swallow your fucking tongue.
Your convulsions move in motion with the oncoming storm.
Every flash of light from the sky casts a shadow of darkness over your body.
A mirrored image of malevolence.
As one you cause an era of affliction upon this land.
Suspended in a pernicious season that consumes all consciousness.
Written within these walls is a manifestation.
Hidden within these walls you will find the apparition.
Disembodied, tearing the red from the sky to the ground.
So dismal in perspective.
Distorting the boundaries of all you see.
The world as you once knew has fallen beyond the depths of compromise.
You are the plague and we are the fire that consumes.
Death runs deep within our blood.
This blood will cleanse.
I'll bring this death in the moments to come.
For now we coincide as an angel dressed in fire.
For now we coincide as one, the apparition,
disembodied, tearing the red from the sky to the ground.
So dismal in perspective.
Distorting the boundaries of all you see.
Blackened horizons, I'll tear this sky to the ground.
I'll tear it all down.
Blacken the skies and tear it all to the ground.

Visit The Aphorist page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.