I've never been a man that really cares what people say You sit alone but now I wish that you would find your way
Since you been in my life my days
Seem shorter and my nights with you so long

Gotta feeling deep inside of me, you're tearing me apart
Running through my veins, you feel the pounding of my beating heart
When you're gone, night or day trying to find peace of mind
Hideaway or does she love me at all?

(Little did they know)
She's like the glitter in my eye
(Little did they know)
She's like the star in the sky
(Don't want to let her go)
Love is based on too many, many lies
Rain and the thunder she's taking me under

Got me feeling things that a lonely man can't understand
Want her all the time but she only see's me when
And if she can, who would ever thought that I could fall in love
Somethings are better left unexplained

Still I sit and wonder why Did my life just pass me by?
Now I'm wrapped up in the games we play
Left me in this land alone

(Little did they know)
She's like the glitter in my eye
(Little did they know)
She's like the star in the sky
(Don't want to let her go)
Love is based on too many, many lies
Rain and the thunder she's taking me under

Who am I? A foolish man to think this way
Addicted to your love, what a price to pay
The people see me off the ground
And dust me off again, little did they know

Jump down, girl, jump up in a this
When you're in love you need no more wish
Akie and salt fish, queen of my dish
You're the queen of my heart

The will that come first, some of them want Them need the word is not heard
Rain and the thunder, she's taking me under

(Little did they know)
She's like the glitter in my eye
(Little did they know)
She's like the star in the sky
(Don't want to let her go)
Love is based on too many, many lies
Rain and the thunder she's taking me under
