"Broken"

Look outside into my window
Find there's nothing left inside
A broken bed and an old pair of shoes
There's nothing left for me

I remember once upon a time
This room used to be mine
Not all my secrets are locked inside
And I realize, I realize my heart is broken
My heart is broken in two

All the secrets of the past are locked inside
And when I think about my life it all flies by
All the memories and mistakes that fill my mind
And it's broken
My heart is broken in two

Why'd I come back in the first place?
I knew there was nothing left to chase
Oh everything was such a mess
But I don't think it's all put to rest

I don't know why everything keeps changing
Not this time, not this time
