She can't stop thinking about Him
it's been two years and she's not over it Some think she's crazy for giving in Because of Him she's lost within

She's used to Him kissing Her he's said nobody else can play the role
But something tells me she's not too sure Cause he's got love and it's not with Her

His love is all She has
To keep her in the past

She can't forget His face
Cause She still tastes His taste
They say He burns her like vodka
And what they say is true
She won't wall out of ove
she's still in love

In the end it all faded
I guess it wasn't meant to be
How could she have let this happen?
She lost all of her self esteem

Oh she's the perfect product of a broken heart
Oh She says she's fine but I'm not sure
She is good at hiding how she really feels She lost the one thing that she thought she had was real
