You want to change the world you liberal, let's protest every policy. you want to change the world conservative, let's stop all generosity. I don't believe in your conservative fight, and I don't care if you think anarchy is right. it's all just rhetoric that you spout, it's your opinion I can do without. you want to change the world you dreamer, but look at cold reality. you want to change the world right winger, run things by your beaurocracy. I don't believe in your conservative fight, and I don't care if you think anarchy is right. it's all just rhetoric that you spout, it's your opinion I can do without. you want to change the world you clergy, lets convert everyone we see. you want to change the world you soldier, lets kill all of our enemies. I don't believe in your conservative fight, and I don't care if you think anarchy is right. it's all just rhetoric that you spout, it's your opinion I can do without
