Your head is square, your shoulders are bombs
Your arms as long as my own, as my own
Your elbows don't move, your feet they don't talk
We look so strange when we sit in the dark
Your mind is alive, I never quite know
What you will think of when I will say so
Your finger's don't grow, your knees smell like soap
When we say goodnight It's just saying hello

Off with your head, off with your head
Remember what you saw
Remember what you said

Off with your head, off with your head
Remember what you saw
Remember what you said

When we reach the city, you'll tell us to shut
The fumes from these cocktails are burnt on our tongues
You sit on the steps, schooling on the words
Of various prominent authors
You tell me the truth, you tell me you'll call
When I lean to warm you your lips whispered 'oh'
The train smells like wine, the windows are fogged
? in the dark

Off with your head, off with your head
Remember what you saw
Remember what you said

Off with your head, off with your head
Remember what you saw
Remember what you said

Off with your head, off with your head
Remember what you saw
Remember what you said

Remember, recall
Oh god remember, please remember

Recall what you said
Off with your head

When we reach the end, I'll hold you again
I'll wrap you in sleep, oh at least I'll pretend
I'll block out the sun, we lie in the breath
A new day is breaking but this one is dead
