I can feel the static when I put my hand onto the speaker
Waiting on my own in your front room while you take a shower
Walking on the moon was what you chose to keep me company
Stacks of books and magazines make towers on your coffee table
From the corner there's a hum a program about Waco
Texas
The smell of steam is warm as I flick through an older new scientist
I slowly wind a miniature blue and silver music box
It plays something I recognise maybe that's moon light sonato

There was an argument
Earlier on
It was put to me
Earlier on

I thought we could talk about anything of any nature
But apparently you can take offence to my born nature
You've been in there hours now
You've been in there hours now
You've been hours

There was n argument
Earlier on
It was put to me
Earlier on

How do you feel when your roof is shaking There's no time for a quick fix remedy
Ground was solid when you built your house here
There's no time no thee's never ever ever time
