He's the kind of man who sticks his job for the money that he gets

He don't spend his money at the pub or making bets Goes down town, goes in the bar and makes his contact there

He gets the gear, he takes a shot, and his eyes begin to stare

Chorus:

'Cos he's a junkie, needle-man
Needs the kicks, don't give a damn Yeah a junkie, needle-man
Needs the kicks, don't give a damn

He's getting weaker everyday but he has to keep his job

He'll get no more money on the day he has to stop One day at work he feels so bad that he falls down on the floor

The boss he assures he don't abuse but he throws him out the door

(Repeat Chorus)

solo

(Repeat Chorus)

They find him dying on the floor, yeah he's lying on his back

He's covered in newspapers and a dirty ripped-up sack
The dawn it breaks, the rain it falls, but the young man doesn't live

He gave his life to pills and syringes, and had nothing left to give

(Repeat Chorus)
