Ain't got much money, ain't got no car
I don't need transport, don't travel far
I don't need friendships, I don't need foes
It's just the thing now, the way it goes

But the thing that I love
Is to play on the stage every night
From the fade in the day
Till the black and the gray of the night

I don't need stardom, I don't need fame
I make a living, it's just the same
Got no more money, some food and game
My life's [Incomprehensible]

But the thing that I love
Is to play on the stage every night
From the fade in the day
Till the black and the gray of the night

I'd like to know where it's gonna end
Push me one way and I won't bend

'Cause the thing that I love
Is to play on the stage every night
From the fade in the day
Till the black and the gray of the night

But the thing that I love
Is to play on the stage every night
From the fade in the day
Till the black and the gray of the night

But the thing that I love
Is to play on the stage every night
From the fade in the day
Till the black and the gray of the night
