"Clock To Stop"

It's all good, it's alright
Cut the string to the kite, send it flying Who's to say what this means There's some truth in between where we're lying Here's to happiness caving in on us

And the clock on the wall says it's quarter past going too well
As you go round again, half way to heaven, you do a one-eighty for hell
What goes up comes down again
Falling, stumbling, crawling out of love
Tell the clock on the wall to stop

It's all good, it's okay
Something new, thrown away in confusion
Now you know what this means
Things come clear after the dreams and illusions
Here's to happiness
Caving in on us

And the clock on the wall says it's quarter past going
too well
As you go round again, half way to heaven, you do a
one-eighty for hell
What goes up comes down again
Falling, stumbling, crawling out of love
Tell the clock on the wall to stop

And the clock on the wall says it's quarter past going
too well
And you go round again, half way to heaven, you do a
one-eighty for hell
What goes up comes down again
Falling, stumbling, crawling out of love
Tell the clock on the wall to stop

When the clock on the wall says it's quarter past going
too well
Will you go round again
Half way to heaven you turn and head straight for hell

What goes up comes down again
Clock on the wall, it's quarter past going too well
And it goes round again
Round again, round again, round again, round again
