I didn't know, you should've said
You could've told me that love was dead
Did we kill it all with every stormy word
Drop the ball it cannot be returned, it's dead

I didn't know you lost before
You could've told me you knew the score
Misplaced it all and then called off the search
Vanished soul but you don't feel it hurts no more

Dissolve in my head
Resolve lay to rest
Dissolve in my head
Revolve to the end, the end

I didn't know we reached the edge
And it was only a harsh pretence
Onto knees we fall and search unto the sky
As we crawl without a reason why, no sense

Dissolve in my head
Resolve lay to rest
Dissolve in my head
Revolve to the end, the end

And though I walk away I still see you
Stuck in a world on top with you
Can't you see why you accomplish all you do

And now I can't resolve this stumbling
Consider now I'm done with it
Leave me a wound that's opened all for you

And though I walk away I still see you
Stuck in a world on top with you
Can't you see why you accomplish all you do

And now I can't resolve this stumbling
Consider now I'm done with it
Leave me a wound that's opened all for you
