The signs could be confusing
To work out the way to you
There never was a perfect day
That we could agree to

But the view we were waiting for, it finally arrived
And it was not what we expected
It could be the high life for you
High life for me
I never could be there

This could be the high life for you
High life for me
I never could be there

We were renewed by the possibility of union
And finding a way to love could certainly be nice
I never thought I'd see the day
I never thought I'd feel this way
I look up to you, look how far we've come

It could be the high life for you
High life for me
I never could be there

This could be the high life for you
High life for me
I never could be there

The possibilities of all our creation find me come impatient
Personalities are all reconnected, future is protected
The possibilities of all our creation find me come
impatient
The personalities are all reconnected, future is protected

The possibilities of all our creation find me come
impatient
The personalities are all reconnected, future is
protected

The possibilities of all our creation find me come
impatient
Personalities are all reconnected, future is protected
