The city splits imperfections
Highest mountains block my view of you
Forget your past as I only wanted you to love me too
Me too

I move alone 'til another mistake
Embrace what could be
You can see stretch yourself dead
When will this end? You're on, you're on

Losing to the guys you think you need
Oh baby, please you've got a disease
I suspect that I am being replaced
I guess it's just a part of your game

Wipe this half-hearted look off your face
Because I can't live this way

I tried, tried to catch my breath
Take one step to my death, kill me
Take one step to my death

Everyday that goes past without your face
And all I want is out of reach
All I can't reach

You took this all from me now I want it back
That was your chance now you are gone for good

Come on, come on
You know all of my regret is yours for the taking
Come on, come on
Let's see if you're worth your waiting

Oh, the streets run red with lies you have found dead
[Incomprehensible]
Your lies, your lies are sent to hell

Come on, come on
I'm stepping onto the plank, I'm yours for the taking
Come on, come on
I'm stepping onto the plank

Forget our past as I only wanted you to move on too
No one needs you to move on

I'm moving, I'm moving on
I can't live this way
Now's your chance

I'm standing still
And there's nothing that I can't reach
With no one here to reach out, reach
Savor this moment tomorrow is long
