Hold still until I come back home
100 days makes my heart set like stone

Let the noise drown out your thoughts Turn up the radio, pretend that you're fine when you're not
Don't you know I've been waiting
So don't you know I've been wrong

Try to bring back for the snow came, came looking forward
Just don't look at the wreckage, you may be concerned
I look for replacement to fill at this space, sail away
Just give me a reason to come back home

I feel so alone, let the distance grow
I can tell this time
As I slowly lose all hope
This will never work for us

Don't you know I've been waiting so
Don't you know I've been wrong
Don't you know I've been waiting so long, so long

You said that we'd make this last
But maybe we were wrong

I can't stop the thought
That this road will tear us apart
I know that this road is going to be the path before the break
I know that this emptiness is gonna fade
I've given up on counting days

I despair to forgetting sense
And I'm giving sheets
To a death, to a death
To a death before your eyes

I sink like a sailor, I've been lost at sea
I see your reflection, it's hunting me in my dreams
Waves continue to break but I'll weather the storm

Just give me a reason to come back home
To come back home
