Sky Harbor
"Identity"

Well I guess it, guess it all began when
When I could understand the social life
The worries and I heard what, what you used to say but Now these things have changed and it seems like the only way

Well I guess it, guess it all began when
When I could understand the social life
The worries and I heard what, what you used to say but Now these things have changed and it seems like the
only way

Trying hard to figure out myself
So I act like someone else
Wish it could be easier to see
How I'm supposed to be

Who you are is what you say and all that you say
Is all that I believe
I try to leave all the things that get in the way
Of my identity

Who you are is where you stand and what you stand for
Is who I'll try to be
As cliche as it is I wanna fit in with Your identity, yeah

Well it took a while for me to realize that I didn't have to be
The guy I thought that they would like to see
I decided I needed to dispose Of this life I never chose

Will I figure out myself?
Tired of being someone else
Wish it could be easier to see
Lord, show me who I should be

Who you are is what you say and all that you say
Is all that I believe
I try to leave all the things that get in the way
Of my identity

Who you are is where you stand and what you stand for
Is who I'll try to be
As cliche as it is I wanna fit in with
Your identity

Who you are is what you say and all that you say
Is all that I believe
I try to leave all the things that get in the way
My identity

Who you are is where you stand and what you stand for
Who I'll try to be Cliche as it is I wanna fit in

Who you are is what you say and all that you say
Is all that I believe
I try to leave all the things that get in the way
My identity

Who you are is where you stand and what you stand for
Is who I'll try to be
As cliche as it is I wanna fit in with
Your identity