I still dream about that night, the night that things fell apart. The night i felt nothing but complete loss. I know you will still be there the next time we roll through time, and everywhere. These wings wont fly again. The words still escape me. I know you'll forever be safe and sound in our hearts, memories not forgotten. Safe and sound in our hearts and not forgotten. I don't know if someday I'll be able to reconcile the passion lost or the ultimate cost. IT cannot be recovered from where the stars fell and fell so hard - in Alabama. Frow where the stars fell and so hard in Alabama.
