I feel so useless again, everything is out of my hands
And i can't survive, it's an emptiness inside me wishing someone would intie me Put me back at that control so i can steer the ship to safety
I've always been a sucker for happy endings
And i know i will look out in time as long as were still standing

And i don't know if i will still be breathing
With all resolves i'm sick of waiting

This message that ignored, makes it impossible to tell It's a complete sense of helplessness
It's something in this awkwardness
And i can't survive
Follow this uncertainty
With all the things security

Wake me up when it's all over so i can celebrate the victory

I've always been a sucker for happy endings
standing
As long as were still standing
As long as were still standing
