"The Beers"

There's beer
In coffee mugs, water bottles, and soda cups
And it's clear, as the windows I came through
That you
Are in one of those moods
And I am in one of them too
And it's hard, to communicate, anything

And I will remember that summer
As the summer I was taking steroids
Cause you like a man with muscles
And I like you

It's the "cops are coming in" type of sobering up
It's a girl who'll never learn that I could not give a fuck
My friends are happy, I am happy, I've learned to adapt To this darker kind of humor and I can still hear em' laugh

And there's beer
In coffee mugs, water bottles and soda cups
And it's clear as the window I came through

And I will remember that summer
As the summer I was taking steroids
Cause you like a man with muscles
And I like you

But it's an arial view from your house to my room (my room)
And it's an arial view from your house to my room (my room)

And I'm looking in your windows
And I am trying not to stare
Hold on to hope I'm sure was never even there

Cause it's an arial view from your house to my room

As the summer I was taking steroids
As the summer I was taking steroids

As the summer I was taking steroids
