

The Front Bottoms

"You Came Out Of The Closet Wearing A Silverstein Hoodie"

Visit "You Came Out Of The Closet Wearing A Silverstein Hoodie" on MotoLyrics.com

I don't know why you can't see,
That this complete misery is self-inflicted
All we can hope is someday you'll come to your senses
- reconstruct this
There are others in your midst,
Who understand but need you first to be there

I'm tired of this observation,
And sick of this conversation,
It's never ending
This has to come to a stop for everyone's sake
It's not too late
It's not too late

Through my eyes - seeing.
Through my lungs - breathing.
Through my heart - beating.
Through your life, I know that you'll be there

Someday I will stand,
On the brink of emptiness,
But I won't look away
Because I know that you'll be there

Visit The Front Bottoms page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.