Won't you scream my name?
For the first time (For the first time)
For the last time (For the last time)

As I lay down my life before you
The hiding place where I sought out your eyes
Screaming outwards to shoot me back in time
You sent me out in the right field
Spilled my words and disguise
We're starting a rise
Now it's so true I can't go on without you by my side
Every night we die

Hold my breath just to see your ghost
I hold it in my hand for you
Won't you scream my name?
For the first time (For the first time)
For the last time (For the last time)

And I regret the moments I gave you
Searching for my plans to devour you
I finally found out the truth
You sent me out in the right field
Spilled my words and disguise
We're starting a rise
Now it's so true I can't go on without you by my side
Every night we die

Let go of the wires!
Let go of the wires!
