Won't you scream my name
For the first time
For the last time.
As I lay down my life before you.
The hiding place where I sought out your eyes.
Screaming outwards to shoot me back in time.
You sent me out in the right field
Spilled my words and disguise
We're starting a rise.
Now it's so true I can't go on without you by my side

Every night we die.
Hold my breath just to see your ghost
I hold it in my hand for you.
For the first time For the last time.
And I regret the moments I gave you
Searching for my plans to devour you
I finally found out the truth
Now it's so true I can't go on without you by my side.
Let go of the wires!
