Preacher why don't you let me start a war
Preacher why don't you love me anymore
I've been seeing things through different rims
I've been seeing things through different

Teacher why don't you let me start a war
Please Sir why don't you let me stand a flag
I've been seeing things through different rims

Preacher why don't you let me start a war
Preacher why don't you love me anymore
I've been seeing things through different rims

I've been seeing things through different rims

Future gods and past kings
Serial killers on the loose again
Future gods and past kings
Did you ever consider what could happen when
I lose control of my kindness
I was busy busy busy busy making repairs
To myself to myself to myself to my castle

Teacher why don't you let me have a war
Please Sir why don't you love me anymore
I've been seeing things through different rims

Please Sir why don't you let me stand a flag
Please Sir why don't you love me anymore
I've been seeing things through different rims

I've been seeing things through different rims

(Repeat Chorus)

Does anybody else feel free
Cause I don't think you noticed me
I'm walking by the lakes again
I'm listening to the skies
This city's got a hold of me
And cities live but we just breath

The future gods, past kings, didn't know, didn't care
What they did, what they'd bring
It's not too late to burn our things

I've been seeing things through different rims

(Repeat Chorus)
