I married a girl, I married the one that I want
I married a girl, I married the one that you were

If you could come out of the water, the water
If you could come out of the water, the water
The water, the water, with me

I married a boy, I married the boy that I want
I tried to belong, I held on with both feet at ground

If you could come out of the water, the water
If you could come out of the water, the water
If I could come into the water, the water
The water, the water, with you

And all that I want is you
And all that I need is you
And all that I want is to know that it's you

I married a girl, a time for me heart to be stilled
I'll slide in the storm, till I float to where I belong

(Repeat Chorus)

With you

And all that I want is you
And all that I need is you
And all that I want is to know that it's true
I married a girl, I married the one that I want
