Hollow your heart beats
Even though you can't recall the situation
I want our love
Though we don't belong
We won't belong at all

Lay down lay down lay down lay down

This home you built is not strong enough
It will crumble to the ground
The time we spent remains in us
I would never want to live without

Only love breeds peace
Even when you can't ignore the separation
I want our love
Though we don't belong
We won't belong together

If you don't stop breathing
I won't stop believing
My attentions your - secret
If you don't stop breathing
I won't stop believing
My attentions your - secret

This home you built is not strong enough
It'll crumble to the ground
The time we spent remains in us
I would never want to live without.
