Streets rotting with the lies
How can I survive
This kind of hit and run on my...

Sanity possessed by all the things that you do to me
Soul trapped by a saint
Trust defies the shivers that are travelling down my spine
For now hope will find a way

Shame that I never knew
I never would be saved

Show me a sign
Give me the right transmission
Show me the right direction
To follow without eyes
Time to survive

I never seem to Learn from it
No matter how far
I fall

Now the shame has started making it's way up through my veins
The sin will make me shed my skin
Sound of cries are beckoning until I make up my mind
For you I will find a way

Unite the innocence
And take it to the grave

Show me a sign
Give me the right transmission
Show me the right direction
To follow with blind eyes
It's time to survive

If the cold doesn't get to me
This is honestly

The best deep sleep

Show me a sign
Give me the right transmission
Show me the right direction
Where is my lost reflection?
Burnt behind my eyes
God bless tonight
