"Darkest Of Reveries"

We've been robbed by our families
And saved by the hands that keep granting
The safe passage of our ghostly melodies

We've been pawned off on strangers
And we've been shunned as if danger fulfills fantasies
Anywhere that we may dwell

Fate should relocate our souls to hell
We're of a different breed
Born with failures at our feet
What wretched souls are we We're stranded in between
And no matter how it seems
We're always followed by the darkest of reveries

We derailed between fate and a rockwall
Trailed by the shadows of every single had that we've been dealt
Fate should relocate our souls to hell
The gates will close behind us as we say farewell
