I watch your world from the bottom of the bottle
You're mocking hurt with the fury of a starving bride
Be careful who you turn away
And to them what you say
For your words just might

Take you on a one way trip to the place where it all began
Take you home to all the pain like an hourglass
rewinding sand
You'd be left for dead
Praying for the end
Enjoy your stay in hell

I watch your world from above your petty problems
Should I keep my distance I know it's the safest road
Because if I come down from here
It won't be pretty clear Come take my hand, let's go

Take you on a one way trip to the place where it all
began
Take you home to all the pain like an hourglass
rewinding sand
You'd be left for dead
Praying for the end
Took you on, now take me home
Enjoy your stay in hell
