You could open up my soul again doll
You could show me how to love again doll
If you open up and let me in

It's been a long and lonely summer darling
I can feel the change coming darling
It's a matter of our willingness to love

But it's okay if you runaway baby
Just cut it clean so I know
It's not that I want you leaving
But it's like you're already gone

No one else can make my heart race like you
No one else will ever taste just like you
I'm not sure I want to know what what's in your head

But it's okay if you runaway baby
Just cut it clean so I know
It's not that I want you leaving
But it's like you're already gone

I want to be the one to touch your skin
I want to be beside you thick and thin
I want to bring silence to your internal storm
I need to you believe that I'll be there
Because I don't want to be your next dead end
I need it so badly because without it I'm worn

But it's okay if you runaway baby
Just cut it clean so I know
It's not that I want you leaving
But it's like you're already gone
