

The Imagineers

"Imagineer"

Visit "Imagineer" on MotoLyrics.com

I was looking outside my window
Fourteen leaves fall from a willow, c
An't do much more,
Can't do much less today.
Coloured fountains ripple even,
Spill into the rainbows pot,
I'm an Imagineer
I see as I say.
And it's cold enough, cold enough today,
It's colder than I've ever known,
Never known it any other way.
Imaginary of the fictionary,
Visions fleeting, momentary.
Fantasia spells echoing in my eyes.
Falling farthings from the sixties,
A pointed hat, pack of pixies.
I'm an Imagineer I see as I say.
I'm an Imagineer I see as I say!
And it's cold enough, cold enough today,
It's colder than I've ever known, never know it any other way.
I've been having dreams while I'm awake,
About the rhythm and the children and the melody that played.
It leaves you cold, when they're all away.
And the waterfall is running dry today.
And it's cold enough, cold enough today...
Colder than I've ever known!... any other way.
Now I know enough, cause I'm old enough
And I'm bold enough to say,
I'm an Imagineer I see as I say.

Visit The Imagineers page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.