There is disruption here
I've located the source
And now I see
It has been you all along
You've passed your pain onto me
And now I'm breaking the silence
In constant rebellion
To the construct you've held me to
I blame you
And now I'm breaking the silence
In constant rebellion

All this time
Breaking down
No help when I needed
You were gone
How could you?

There's void in here
It started when you left
And I don't see
Why after my youth you stopped everything
It was never my fault
It was your choice to have me
And now I'm breaking the silence
This is my song to you

I'm stronger now
Better for this
I did wade through pain
So high I nearly drown
Though hurt I, I have realized
This was never a reflection of me
And I pray for you, hope that you find
Clarity inside your minds eye
Hope that you see
Hope that you see
