The more I get to know you
The less I understand
A fascinating side effect of plans

The temptation to call you
I will be overcome
I've been down that road and I've never won

The hardest part's not knowing
Who you'll be today
I won't give my love
Just so you can runaway

I wish I could believe you
That you've learned who you are
The self-defense of thick skin made of scars

But the temptation to trust you
I will be overcome
I've been down that road and I've never won

The hardest part's not knowing
Who you'll be today
I won't give my love
Just so you can runaway
