I stab you right between the eyes, you awaken from the lies

I've said it ever since its inception, they're the masters of deception

I'm a godless heretic, not a God fearing lunatic

That's why it's become my obsession to treat God like an infection

My scars insane, my life profane

I deny, defy and spread a little hate worldwide

Like a storm I devastate, religious doubt I instigate

Take a listen to my confession, there's no filter on my aggression

With a pistol open wide to keep the massacre alive

I'll cause global devastation with my moral imperfection

My scars insane, my life profane

I deny, defy and spread a little hate worldwide

Religious doubt I instigate from what the bible demonstrates

Does it document creation or just hopelessness of fiction?

I'm a godless heretic not a God fearing lunatic

That's why it's become my obsession to treat God like an infection

My scars insane, my life profane

I deny, defy and spread a little hate worldwide

Open like a gushing open wound

The walls of deceit will come crashing down soon

I've left you defenseless mentally

And then never fucking hear from you again

Never fucking heard from again
