Bureaucracy – A democracy in an office. But I don't remember electing the Bastard I work for. He just sucked cock all the way to the top. Come to think Of it then, I guess it really is exactly like our government. Look at this World; we created order where their was emptiness rather than chaos. Fill out a Form, take a seat, and wait for your turn to die. Might as well just hang Yourself with red tape. You'll just end up dying in the process of asking for Help, crushed in the gears of our shitty health system.
None of this makes any Fucking sense. A society believing it's own hype, built on borrowed power, Forever calculating nothing with exact precision. Think about it, if were at The top of the food chain, since it's a cycle, we're also at the bottom. At Least a maggot eats and shits for a purpose and feeds the earth, we defecate in Porcelain sculptures and pretend it disappears when it's flushed away. It's a Good thing we die eventually or else it would be even harder to take any of This seriously. And it's only in death that we really find our place, where we Finally belong. Inner peace is nothing compared to having a purpose and a Reason: We are meat for maggots
