Once I had all, had everything
The real princess, the ruling queen
I walked with arrogance, with vanity
But I made sure my heart they wouldn't see

One day I woke up it was gone
The castle kingdom all were lost
Now I have nothing left, nowhere to go
And my heart that's full of doubt is all I've left to show

She is living in exile

I'll walk three thousand lonely miles
I'll start a new life on my own
Don't know what I'm waiting for but when it comes
You know, I'll be ready a new woman

I know my head is my worst enemy
Swallowed too much of it and started to believe
I know my heart is my worst enemy
Swallowed too much of it and started to believe
