

The Lost Unknown

"She Walked, She Fell"

Visit "She Walked, She Fell" on MotoLyrics.com

I never thought you would go, and you did.
I never thought I would hurt you, and I did.

You never looked back.
You never second guessed.
You picked up your things and turned away.

You stayed, because of your guilt.
If you left my life would end.
You were living in the shadows of what I expected you to be.
Living under my step.

How did you find the strength
You picked up your things and turned away.

Your last words were of hate.

So, babygirl. Who will catch you when you fall?
Who will be there when you cry?
He says he loves you, he says he cares.
Will he be there when your heart breaks in two?

So, babygirl. Who will catch you when you fall?
Who will be there when you cry?

No one cares what you have to say.
Common sense is your enemy.
Time will destroy you.
No one is ever really happy
With you.

So, babygirl. Who will catch you when you fall?
So, babygirl. Who will catch you when you fall?

You are not the permanent kind.

Visit The Lost Unknown page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

