When the smoke settles down and I can see outside my window

Then the light will illuminate and make the hollow tree grow

I will tear dead branches off the walls

Throw, throw them all away, just go and throw, throw them all away

You let me know, know you're here to stay and I will throw, throw them all away

Oh I know that your truth will be the sword to pierce the selfish

And I know that your words will be the ones to feed the helpless

I will tear dead branches off the walls

Throw, throw them all away, just go and throw, throw them all away

You let me know, know you're here to stay and I will throw, throw them all away

Shelter me from the storm

Keep me safe from the swarm (x2)

Throw, throw them all away, just go and throw, throw them all away

You let me know, know you're here to stay, I will throw, throw them all away
