Got my feet up in a car

I'm not going where you are

It's my sanity or bust

And it never really was everything I wanted

Everything I needed, everything complete

Everything you've ever heard

And there's not a single word to put your mind at rest

And yes, I never guessed everything you wanted

Everything you needed, everything complete

I only hear what I want to, want to, I want to

And I just follow my feet, and I stumble on

Everything you wanted, everything you needed

Everything complete

I'm almost giving it away, I'm almost near

I'm almost half way home, I might be home
