I've done nothing to prevent myself from slowly breaking down
I don't know when to stop or to begin

Unlike everything I do,
This one proves to be too hard to figure out for me

And I let the river carry me
To where ever it may take me
Too many questions remain unsolved and I wonder why
God knows I'm in desperate need of some kind of clarity
But I just can't make up my mind
But I just can't make up my mind

O, I got all the answers and I know how to fix this,
Then how come I never get around to really doing it?

Too many choices to make and time is slipping away from me
Me and I, don't see eye to eye

And I let the river carry me
To where ever it may take me
Too many questions remain unsolved and I wonder
why
God knows I'm in desperate need of some sort of clarity
But I just can't make up my mind
But I just can't make up my mind
If I could just make up my mind

And I let the river carry me
To where ever it may take me
Too many questions remain unsolved and I wonder
why
God knows I'm in desperate need of some sort of
clarity
But I just can't make up my mind
But I just can't make up my mind

Lord knows I just can't make up my mind
If I could just make up my mind
