For so long I've been searching for things to come and save us now, but we have fallen and we can't get out

Love went wrong. It drove us far away from what we are and words or chords cannot describe this, what we've become

Blinded by the dark, blinded by the dark
I've been trying to say this to you
That things can fall apart and the end can start now

Hearts, two hearts, they might be pumping but the veins are dry
And though we're not apart, I cannot seem to reach you're open hand

And we're fighting, fighting, lying, lying
We keep running but we're standing still

Blinded by the dark, blinded by the dark
I've been trying to say this to you
That things can fall apart, and the end can start tonight, yeah

And we're fighting, fighting, lying, lying
All this running and running has got me shattered and lonely
Blinded by the dark, blinded by the dark tonight

Hearts, oh hearts, you keep on pumping but the veins are dry

Hearts, baby, you need me, hearts

And we're blinded by the dark, blinded by the dark
I've been trying to say this to you
That things can fall apart and the end can start tonight

And we're fighting and we're lying, yeah
This running and running has got me shattered and lonely
Blinded by the dark, blinded by the dark tonight, tonight

Heart, my sweet heart, you might be pumping but my veins are dry
