I have noticed things about myself
It seems they never stay under the rug, I've swept them too
I don't know how I have gone on for so long
If only I could hide them someplace they would stay

And all this time I was wrong
You have been there every day
I never gave the credit that was due
And hiding's not the way

I don't need to focus on what has passed
My life will not be hide and seek
But I will seek the truth in all I do
In every trial I face

I'll seek the truth, I'll seek the truth
