"Pretend To Be The Same"

You and I only have the time
To smile when we pass by
Growth just seems like a nice word to say
Things will never be the same

But let's just stay right here this way
We don't need to worry about tomorrow
And I know that things will change
We'll just pretend they're the same

The places we felt safe, taken away
Go and find what you need to be free

You and I only in our minds
Can laugh at the old times
Only time will finally wait, you see
How much of my life you have changed

So let's just stay right here this way
We don't need to worry about tomorrow
But I know that things will change
