

Constantines, The "Credit River"

Visit "Credit River" on MotoLyrics.com

So you've decided to declare bankruptcy
You say that lease it brought out something bad in me You say I feel like half a man I used to be is there any place left for me to go Friend I know the hounds of debt they do get hungry and desperate times will set you off wondering Is there a place under the moon where I can still get a room
I can take you to the one place that I know

Where gonna live on Credit River Gonna kiss up to the Great Misgiver and we all will be delivered Gonna live on Credit River

In place of all that I once knew was all I needed and thought true is now a debt nobody could undo and a name I signed away to a better day

We're gonna live on Credit River
Gonna kiss up to the Great Misgiver
Until we find ourselves a counterfeiter
Gonna live on Credit River

Well I may be in the red but I'm still hungry
So far gone but still leaning on that golden rail Why don't me and you take it into the blue push off those fancy banks and set sail

Visit Constantines, The page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.