"I Will Go"

These hearts are broken, and these minds can't rest.
Your word is spoken, and yet we don't understand.
But just get ready to go out and cover the Earth
But how are they supposed to know when they've never even heard.

And I will go,
Away from here and everything I own.
And I will show, everyone that you are here
And know, that I'm not alone.

These hands are moving, but only for my sake.
These feet are losing, cause I'm not even in the race.
But just get ready to go out and cover the Earth.
And how are they supposed to know what they've
never even heard.

And I will go,
Away from here and everything I own.
And I will show, everyone that you are here
And know, that I'm not alone.
