You had the best of intentions now
But the bad inventions let us down
And now it's gone
Who really cares if we ever find a home?
Yeah, yeah
I wanna thank you
Thank you for all the times we had
Too bad there's no more money
Next part ain't so funny
Everybody's leaving
It seems to be the season
When your parts return to home
Can't you see that I'd rather be alone?
Yeah, yeah
Goodbye, so long, see you some time
Goodbye, so long, see you some time
Let me know if you're back this way again
Sing a song that reminds us of a friend
I wanna thank you
You know, all those times don't seem so bad
We'll live in a reflection, eliminate detection
As well as rhyme or reason we'll always aim to pleasin'
And my thoughts begin to roam
Still I think I'd rather be alone
Yeah, yeah
Goodbye, so long, see you some time
Goodbye, so long, see you some time
Goodbye, so long, see you some time
Goodbye, so long, see you some time
Goodbye, so long, see you some time
Goodbye, so long, see you some time
Goodbye, so long, see you some time
Goodbye, so long, see you some time
