A warning to the curious
A message for the meek
Its better not to be in love
Than to be in between

You, If I never had you
Then I wouldn't feel the way I do now
If I never had you

It was just a joke you said
But now I'm warning you
On whose grounds do you dare to tread?
When all your plans fall through

You, If I never had you
Then I wouldn't feel the way I do now
If I never had you

A warning to the curious
A message for the meek
It's better not to be in love
Than to be in between

You, If I never had you
Then I wouldn't feel the way I do now
If I never had you
If I never had you
If I never had you
If I never had you
If I never had you
If I never had you
If I never had you
