Who's that knockin' at our door
Could be heartache, could be more
Could be nightmares, tired and sore
Who's that knockin' at our door
This old house up on the hill
Holds us here against our will
Laugh at the sun or curse the moon
And hope someone will come before too soon

Who's that knockin' at our door
Could be top hats, tail coats torn
Could be all things, great and small
Who's that knockin' at our door

This old house up on the hill
Holds us here against our will
Laugh at the sun or curse the moon
And hope someone will come before too soon

Who's that knockin' at our door
Could bring good things to us all
Could be cold coyote calls
Who's that knockin' at our door
Who's that knockin' at our door
