U-L-T-I... MATE.

You called me up tonight and I was so speechless. I didn't know what to think, what I should confess. You left me hanging' there. Like an apologize was gonna, gonna make me care.

Slowly, going away. Nothing more you can say.

You should of really been a good boy. Now I have a new picture I can destroy.

There's a fire in my heart tonight. The flames are burning and it feels so right.

There's a fire in my heart tonight. And it's spreading faster than the speed of light.

There's a fire in my heart tonight. My love has crashed all through the night.

There's a fire in my heart tonight... so put it out tonight, so I can feel alright.

You made me believe in this fairy tale. But everything you did was such a fail.

I believed in everything you said... it's like a memory is stuck in my head.

There's a fire in my heart tonight. The flames are burning and it feels so right.

There's a fire in my heart tonight. And it's spreading faster than the speed of light.

Fire! Fire, fire. Fire, fire.

BURN! BURN! AHHHHH

I like them haters, haters... she likes those players, players. I get what I deserve, come around to be heard. I mix up my tracks, and make 'em bigger than life. I let my heart go to a boy who was right. He led me on, showed me this new song. He took me down, uptown, to run-down the small town and burn it down, down, down... down.

There's a fire in my heart tonight. The flames are burning and it feels so right.

There's a fire in my heart tonight. And it's spreading faster than the speed of light.

There's a fire in my heart tonight. My love has crashed all through the night.

There's a fire in my heart tonight... so put it out tonight, so I can feel alright.
